Why Wrap Your Tape Library?

Wrapping a colorful or custom design on your Spectra Cube or TFinity Plus tape library can serve multiple purposes

Branding: Customize the appearance of your tape library to align with your branding. It's a way to make the library visually consistent with your company's identity.

Aesthetics: Beyond branding, some organizations prefer a visually appealing look for their data center equipment. Custom wraps offer an opportunity to add personality or style to an otherwise ordinary-looking piece of hardware.

Identification: Custom wraps can help with quick visual identification of specific tape libraries within a data center environment. This can be useful for maintenance purposes or when managing multiple libraries.

The range of possibilities for customizing your Spectra Cube and TFinity Plus tape libraries is almost boundless. When ordering a new library, you can graphically customize the front and side panels in nearly any way you would like.
